

Protect Your Identity: Shred Fest 2009

Contact: Susan Schilz, Wisconsin Office of Privacy Protection
(608) 224-5174

The Wisconsin Office of Privacy Protection at the Department of Agriculture, Trade and Consumer Protection is offering free shredding for consumers who want to safely dispose of documents containing personally identifiable information such as old checks, bills, and bank statements.

Protecting your personal information is a great place to start reducing the risk of identity theft. The Office of Privacy Protection is hosting the shred event along with Access Information Management. This event is free and open to the public.

Bring any personal documents you want shredded. There is no need to remove paper clips or staples, the shredding truck can handle it!
(Limit 3 boxes per consumer)

Where: Wisconsin Department of Agriculture, Trade and Consumer Protection
2811 Agriculture Drive
